The Tigers have the best of it so far in the present important series with the White Sox and gained another lap on them yesterday by taking a tenning game from Jones's men.

The Naps were the chief ones benefited, as the result of tumbles by both the White Sox and the St. Louis Browns, who polished off and were enabled to crawl up and are now only one game shy for trying the Browns for third place, while the Browns themselves are half a game behind the White Sox, so they are pretty well clustered with the Tigers gradually making its lead more solid.

The White Sox will have to beat the Tigers today or the Browns will go into second place if they can not achieve that defeat at the hands of the Naps yesterday, but if the Naps repeat on the Browns the two teams will be on even terms on the third rung of the ladder.

Diamond followers in the East are hoping that the White Sox will come to the scratch today and prevent the Tigers from getting any more lead, which will make their pennant winning easy.

In the National League the only one of the leaders to get a reverse was Pittsburgh, Cincinnati springing the surprise and downing the Pirates by a small score, and the Cubs by winning just within reach of second place. If the same thing happens today it will put the Cubs second to the Giants, who went up some points by dumping the Trolley Dodgers again by a narrow margin.

PAPKE AND KETCHEL ARE WATCHED AGAIN

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—Billy Papke and Stanley Ketchel have been matched to fight twenty rounds in this city on the night before Thanksgiving.

Thrilling action, the lightweight champion of the world, does not appear to be loath to give Papke a second round in the near future, according to state-

BASEBALL NEWS AND NOTES

With four games on the job the national season is not taking any chance on the night before Thanksgiving.

It looks as if the fight will be a close one, as Papke has been in the city and Ketchel has been in the city for two days and is now getting ready for the fight.

THE BOSTON AMERICAN

CAN YOU BEAT IT? By T. E. Powers

"IF"
By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

To Senator
Frank J. Linchan

Mr. Linchan, you made the direct and positive statement last Wednesday that representatives of the Boston Elevated Railway Company offered you $3,500 for your vote.

You also made the direct charge that Boston & Worcester representatives "raised the bid" to $5,000.

These statements you repeated yesterday and again to-day in the presence of many responsible witnesses.

It is too late now for you to retract them. Furthermore, as a citizen and public official of the State of Massachusetts, it is your duty to tell to the District Attorney and the Grand Jury the NAMES OF THE MEN who, according to your public statement, are engaged in buying votes in the State Legislature.

Unless you make these names known nobody will ever believe you again when you make a similar charge.

Unless you reveal the names you will be in the position of a Senator who listens to the bids of two rival corporations for his vote and who refuses to tell the names of the bidders.

If a crime was committed, it was done in your presence. If you conceal the names of the criminals, you will be looked upon as an accessory to the crime.

It's YOUR MOVE, Mr. Linchan.

Tell the names!

What the Advertising Man Does

He Distributes the Products of All Workers. He is the WORLD'S DISTRIBUTOR.

The business of advertising is the business of DISTRIBUTION. In our industry DISTRIBUTION is the most important work, the still very incomplete task of our epoch.

We have solved difficult problems in production, in industrial organization. Our capacity for manufacture is practically as unlimited as our capacities in agricultural and mineral production. Our great problem unfinished, barely begun, is the problem of DISTRIBUTION. Fruits rot on the ground for lack of distribution. Clockmakers are idle many months in the year through defective distribution. Workers of all kinds suffer from the uncertainty of the markets, because our organization of distribution has not kept pace with organization in production.

The advertising man is the DISTRIBUTOR. Upon his intelligent, convincing work depends the growth of industry, the growth of human comfort and the elevation of the standards of living.

A man can buy only when he knows that the thing is for sale. A man must be intelligently instructed as to the quality of what is offered to him, and advertising does this important work.

The intelligent advertising man is to our industrial and commercial system what the fruit is to the tree.

Below the trunk the roots are gathering the wealth of the earth; they represent the factory.

Above, the thick trunk, the many branches and leaves do their share of the work; they represent the store managers and clerks.

The fruit at the top, ready to drop, is the advertised product. That fruit taken and distributed gives to the world the work that has been done by the unseen roots, the trunk and the branches and the leaves.

The advertiser distributes the work of soil, factory, store and management.

Advertising men give out to human beings the products of ingenuity; they do for the work of men's intelligence what the rain clouds do for the water in the ocean, scattering over the land what the land requires.

Long Island Pauper
Complains of Treatment

EDITOR BOSTON AMERICAN.

In regard to the controversy now going on between Mayor Hibbard, Aldermen Parker and the country trustees concerning the neglected appearance of the pauper graves in Mount Hope Cemetery, it would be much better if they would turn their attention to the deplorable condition of the living paupers on Long Island.

Since the advent of Dr. Henshaw on the Island, things have been going from bad to worse. The high state of effluvia which he was going to bring to the Island has exhibited in smoke like the doctor's cigarette. Instead of improving conditions there he has heightened the hours of labor, reduced the food and lowered the wages of the men and women and leaves the entire management of the Island in the hands of his subordinate.

He has now revived the solitary cells, and men and women are locked up for the most trivial reasons. He has told an officer or matron how to do it, for he has no right against any of the trustees. It is to keep up the appearance of the Island, to keep the trustees from being exposed, that he has done this. He has no right to do it, and he has no right to do it, and he has no right to do it.

[At his own request the name of the writer of this letter is withheld, for obvious reasons. His statement of conditions at the Long Island institution is being investigated by a representative of the BOSTON AMERICAN.—E.]

Improving the Dress
By C. B. Quincy

THE dressmaker has invented a metal plate for the use of which a dress can be improved by sliding a ring along.

Why not go a step further and make the whole thing of metal? A tin dress would never wrinkle, would be impervious to rain and dust, and could be painted in any shade. It could also keep the wearer from being crushed in a crowd and would not be soiled by the dirt that becomes eager to know on human skin.

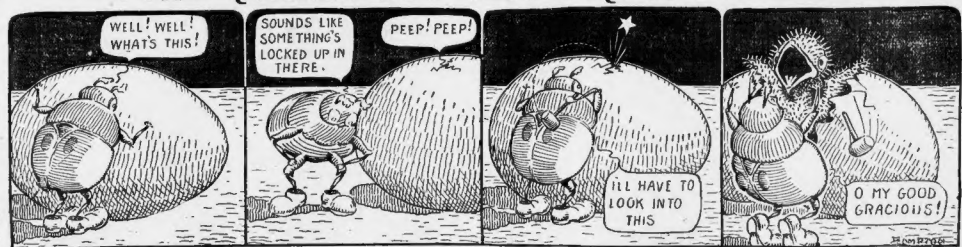

When put in use, the dress could be used as a wash-dish.

The same apparatus which would be in use of falling into the water, would be the worst of all dresses, for it would be dragged down by the weight. The dress could only be elevated, however, by concrete. The tin dress would be a good deal better, but it would not be so good as a tin dress, when it might even be used as a wash-dish.
